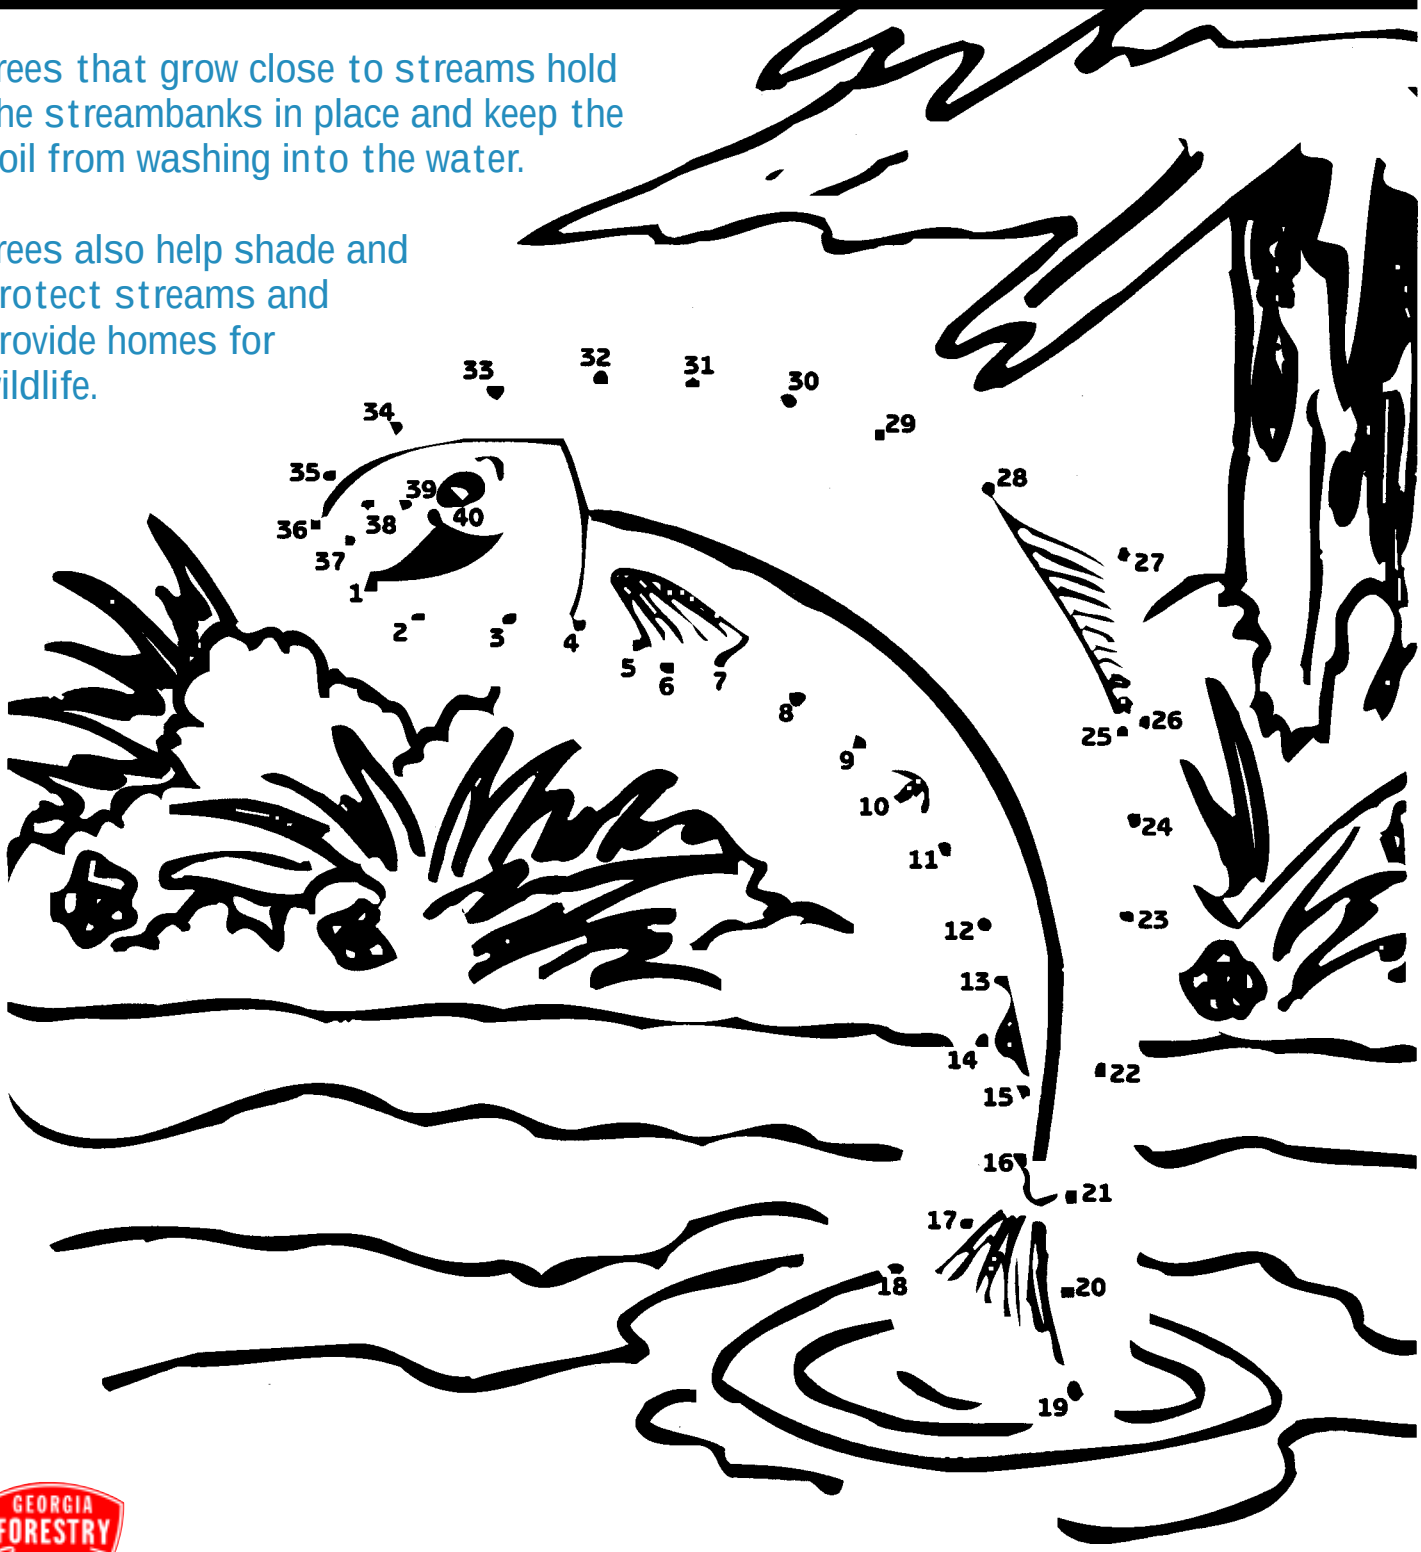
CLEAN WATER

Trees that grow close to streams hold the streambanks in place and keep the soil from washing into the water.

Trees also help shade and protect streams and provide homes for wildlife.



GEORGIA FORESTRY COMMISSION

Courtesy of Weyerhaeuser Company